

AREA WARFARE (EPISODE 25)

Welcome back to Jedi Training. The title of this podcast is Local Area Warfare.

Have you ever given anyone a static shock? Have you ever experienced that?

Sure, we've all seen that, but we have to really think about what that means.

There's this electrical potential just about everywhere in all of the matter that's around us.

It's almost like it's part of the matrix, if you will.

But we can also hold a charge and discharge energy through our fingers.

For example, this is an image of a static discharge.

And sometimes it comes from the object and sometimes it goes to the object.

But it's well known that essentially our fingers, our arms can act like an antenna and discharge energy.

And it's measurable, scientifically speaking.

This isn't some type of theory.

This actually happens.

And so harnessing that skill, amplifying that skill, is something that we're going to be focusing on in this podcast.

Here's a video of a guy holding a static charge.

Static, of course, means stationary, in a sense.

And so this charge can be discharged and projected into the local environment.

We see cult members doing this, to a certain extent, all the time.

With their gratuitous windmilling, they try to impress you with their telekinetics.

Here, coming back to the college professor, showing us how the finger propagates energy.

And in fact, it can be even amplified with a type of metal object.

But electricity can run through us.

Energy can run through us.

Energy can be projected from us into the environment.

Now, we can do this through artificial means, like with Tesla coils and the like.

Or we can do this telekinetically with supernatural potential.

And of course, this is a very in-depth topic.

Because there's a lot going on biologically, chemically, in the human body that allows this to happen.

Of course, we've talked about some of this in previous podcasts and broadcasts.

But essentially, we have a lot of potential.

Now, using this potential in warfare, of course, is another debate.

We've had that debate.

This is about a specific subject versus the morals and ethics involved with telekinetic warfare.

But essentially, physiologically, the body is like the life support system, as well as the means to an end.

And our consciousness is the fusion of perception and cognition flowing in real time through an input-output system that we can call a superbrain, if you will.

And all of this applied the right way can essentially have an impact.

But it's more than just biology or science or physiology.

There's something supernatural that's going on as well.

And this is why we really have to focus our abilities physically, spiritually, and mentally to make telekinetics happen.

Now, of course, as soon as you get beyond the, should I jump into the pool, should I get involved in this war type of debate, then it really comes to practice.

And, of course, practice makes perfect.

And so, where do we go from here?

Training really begins in your local environment.

But there's a lot of topics to discuss, including target selection.

Who are you going to target in this conflict against evil?

And initially it's kind of difficult because you don't really want to victimize anyone.

But eventually, once you enter the war, the enemy in your local environment will make itself visible.

It'll make itself pretty obvious.

They'll show up like stalkers or like some kind of science fiction movie, like body snatchers or something.

And so, what's important to understand is that the enemy that we fight essentially comes in different categories from the local, state, federal, and intergalactic levels.

But essentially, you're going to have to learn how to defend yourself on pretty much every domain if you want to survive.

The foot soldiers rely on a pyramid scheme for their information and other requirements.

And so, sometimes the best defense is a good offense.

And attacking this enemy is really the best way to defend yourself and to defend others.

I want to say humans or Christians or people in your community.

But essentially, the best way to defend ourselves here is to attack this enemy.

And so, you're going to have to learn how to do that.

In previous podcasts, we've talked about what's in the Bible.

We've talked about what's in the Bible.

our intent.

But, there are many things that we can do beyond that.

And essentially, one of the things that we're going to have to focus on is helping you focus your energy through your various antennae, antennae we should say, and attacking the enemy in that regard as well.

That's going to become a very pivotal aspect to Jedi training.

And so one of the things that we have to think about is how do we project energy from our fingers and our body parts to affect an enemy.

And essentially, the short of the long of it is, is that this happens automatically based on intent.

But you just have to practice and believe.

They basically go hand in hand.

You have to believe that you can do it.

And you have to practice doing it.

But of course, you don't want to practice on poor innocent people.

And so you almost have to jump into this fight willingly, looking for targets.

And there's no better way than to practice on known targets, known enemies, like the people that we find on television.

And essentially, as soon as you start engaging that kind of enemy, then enemies in your environment will make themselves more visible.

Of course, this is a type of downward spiral that basically ends up in all-out telekinetic warfare.

And so, that's why we should really kind of talk about all of your prep work again.

You really want to do everything that needs to be done A to Z before you do this, including some experience in,

in internal energy.

And so, we strongly recommend that you attempt to do a few sessions of Tai Chi or something.

And see if you can feel your internal energy that way.

And of course, you know, we should probably do a session on that.

But, feeling your energy is a good start to projecting your energy like a static discharge, but on a much bigger scale.

Kind of feels like the video guy is on vacation here.

But, there's really no replacing that aspect of the training.

But it goes along with everything else.

But essentially, the idea is to project an attack on a target that you can see.

And so, we can start with the people on television.

And this may seem almost too obvious, really.

But, a person's image is like their phone number.

Their GPS coordinates.

And so, that's the best way to practice in privacy.

But, of course, as soon as you go there, then you'll start seeing glitches in the matrix.

So, you can pick your target at will.

And then, practice on projecting...

...some type of weapon into the environment.

...kind of works best.

And it's probably, you know, easier to imagine...

...a type of...

...beam weapon, if you will.

...coming from your fingers, to begin with.

...and obviously, you know, the pointer finger is probably the most...

...useful...

...digit.

And so, really, the session...

...can begin by...

...projecting an energy beam...

...from your finger...

...to the target.

...and imagine...

...penetrating...

...traversing...

...that target.

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

And of course the type of weapons that you project into the environment is really limited by your imagination.

But essentially anything is possible and the impact that your projection will have really kind of depends on many different factors.

But to begin with, practice makes perfect as does believing that you can do it.

There are many other things that we can talk about.

And of course the wicked will not be justified.

So if you do apply an idea on a bigger scale, then you really have to refine the conditions for that projection.

And so always leave room for the innocent to survive.

Target selection is a very difficult topic.

But always say to yourself that you will do no evil.

And that we only target evildoers in what we do.

But essentially that is the beginning of telekinetics.

And the more experience that you acquire.

And the more virtue that you have, the stronger the impact will be.

And so if you're kind of a shady person, then you really want to clean yourself up.

But, you know, if you've been a do-gooder all your life, then you telling the fig tree to wither away, when you mean it, will eventually happen.

But the more experience and the more weight your words carry, the quicker it will happen.

And, I mean, these things can have a very devastating effect in the long term.

Especially when applied in the right way against the real enemy.

And so nobody wants you to untap your full potential.

Except perhaps the good guys.

So we've talked about this.

It is a war.

And now you just have to make a list of fig trees that deserve your attention.

Of course, some fig trees are more obvious than others.

So for the time being, stick to the obvious fig trees.

And if you feel like cult members are conducting a type of telekinetics campaign in your area, then become more aggressive.

But eventually, you will have to defend yourself.

And until you do, then you might as well start practicing on the obvious fig trees.

But of course, like we said, this will downward spiral quickly into all-out telekinetic warfare.

So you have to be ready to swim in the pool.

Otherwise, it's going to be a suicide mission.

Know that you can do it.

Obviously, if you're a long-time listener and a lifelong Christian, then you can do it.

But,

if you're a recent convert or a recent subscriber, then there's probably still a lot of things that you have to do before you should really get involved in the spiritual warfare.

But,

every person out there is unique.

Just know that the war is real and that the consequences for stepping in,

any war,

is as serious as this war.

So,

you have to imagine that you're signing up for the military and they're going to dump you on the front lines of a war zone.

That's basically what you're getting yourself into.

It may seem like fun and games,

but the potential here is huge.

So,

if you feel like

you have what it takes and you've prepared,

then start practicing.

Practice will help you reach your full potential.

Until the next time,

if you're listening to this,

you are the resistance.

Thank you.
